2. I fear no ill, resent no wrong;
Nor feel a passion move,
When malice whets her slanderous
tongue;
Such patience is in love.
3. Fresh causes of distress occur
Where'er I look or move;
The comforts I to all prefer
Are solitude and love.
4. In gulfs of awful night we find
The God of our desires;
'Tis there He stamps the yielding
mind,
And doubles all its fires.
5. A Savior doubles all my joys,
And sweetens all my pains,
His strength in my defence employs,
Consoles me and sustains.
6. Nor exile I nor prison fear;
Love makes my courage great;
I find a Savior everywhere,
His grace in every state.
7. Before the power of love divine
Creation fades away;
Till only God is seen to shine
In all that we survey.

This hymn expresses the writer's relationship with God that sustains her through all types of experiences. We chose an upbeat tempo that matches the feeling of the hymn. While some verses express the distress that we encounter in the world, Madame Guyon writes about her experiences of finding God, whether in joy or in exile. We pray that when singing this hymn, you may also experience God in this way.
