His prom-is-es en-dure.

2. Though we may wander, He will not forsake us,
Truer than earthly friend;
He never fails our trust, for having loved us,
He loves unto the end.
3. Unto the end; we doubt Him, we deny Him,
We wound Him, we forget;
We get some earthly idol up between us
Without one faint regret.
4. And when it falls or crumbles, and in anguish
We seek this changeless Friend,
Lo, He receives us, comforts and forgives us,
And loves us to the end.
