

Treasury of Christian Literature

Book: Sketch of Genesis by Titus Chu

Course Description:

Almost all Christians have read at least part of the book of Genesis. It is a book of beginnings, showing us how everything started. But very few have seen Genesis as presented by Titus Chu in this book. God's desire for man has never changed, so every person and event in this wonderful beginning story, from creation to Joseph, has something for us to learn. In our study we will see Genesis as a book of experience, matching what God is doing with us today.

Book: A Sketch of Genesis by Titus Chu

A Sketch of Genesis shows us how this first book in the Bible matches our Christian experience. Each student is expected to obtain a copy of the text, and, if possible, read the Preface before the first class. It is available through Amazon in paperback and Kindle form HERE, and as a free PDF file HERE.

Class Structure:

Most of the class time will be used for mutual discussion, led by the instructor, over the week's reading assignment. Everyone should come on time with their Zoom camera turned on, prepared to speak up and volunteer something profitable. Students who do not volunteer will be called on. No one will be left out.

Homework:

- Reading: Each student is expected to read the week's assigned chapters and attend class ready to discuss the material.
- Blog Post: This will be explained in the first class. Each student will post something about that week's reading assignment on the class blog located at Christian-Lit.mystrikingly.com. Posts could be about what you especially enjoyed, how something changed your understanding, how you applied or experienced something you read, or questions where you need clarification.

- Be specific. Do not post something general like, "I really liked it."
- Feel free to read other's posts and, if inspired, give an encouraging reply or a thoughtful answer to a question.
- All posts should be kept positive to maintain an atmosphere in which everyone can participate. The blog is intended to become an avenue of edifying fellowship among us.
